( We all Made it ) The Forty Two ( 42 ) mile cruise on a rain threatening day , saw us on an enjoyable route with plenty of discovery and fellowship on the way . Right down our alley our Spring Starter . Slow Cruising // all dry roads // perhaps new scenery for some // ( Yes ) delightful recall for others voicing their past cruising memories ) // special "EYE SPY" shot-gun navigator's activity just to keep their beloved Classic Car Driver on track // a beautiful natural vision of the flock of SNOW GEESE ( literally multi-1000's ) flight swarming - glistening in bright sunshine, in what looked like a live pure white sunlit island on the lake waters of O'Sullivan, just off of our road route that took us over the famous Dam itself // Human Nature call at the POT HOLES MARKET where we bought snack goodies to share at our next stop Scenic Overlook with pot luck style fellowship and a few cameras for recall ... Yep, did enjoy that! // cruising again to stay on schedule in pursuit of our goal, clear dry roads took us through creation's basalt rock palisades - roadside water holes then ( Past traditional Sandhill Cranes migrating Habitat Marshes and so far, NONE in sight for photo opportunities ) // on through Othello's proud high flying American Flag Industrial Port District ( God Bless America ) // on to final goal through downtown Othello .

Made it ~ 12:00 pm/pdt/ish .. ( No confessed mechanical issues – Mason's still in charge of "THE DUCK" .. unless we get word of a qualifying mechanical event before we all got back to point of beginning ) " Be honest now".

On your own to enjoy ~ At this point, MLCCC Welcomed two new guests who joined up with us, all were free to enjoy the Crane Festival's busy Educational Seminar's // Art Displays // Crane viewing tour rides // etc. and return on their own time schedule // route of choice // ( Paul ) What happened at Festival stays at Festival! OK ? ) ( Did Ya see any Cranes ? )
