

Karen Crook's Barbie Car - 1992 Geo Metro

When the convertible first came out in 1992, I took Clay and the girls to see it at the new car dealer. They all laughed and said that it was ugly. I still wanted one! In 1996 this car was in a used car lot near Pay N Pak where I was working. It had low mileage and was an automatic getting 40 MPG gas mileage, so I bought it and told Clay to figure out how he was going to pay for it. He could not turn it down because of all of his Ramblers. We really like it for the gas mileage and power and only drive it when we can drive with the top down. The Geo convertible was made only 3 years: '91, '92 and '93. When driving it, we have been asked several times by people with big motor homes if we would sell it so they could trailer it behind their rig. If we ever decide to sell it, we will find a motor home convention.
